TIPP CITY — A $100 million dairy production facility coming to Tipp city will help Meijer deliver higher-quality products faster to stores across Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana, Meijer co-CEO Mark Murray said Wednesday during a ground-breaking ceremony.

Gov. John Kasich joined officials from Meijer, JobsOhio, the Dayton Development Coalition, Tipp City and the surrounding community Wednesday morning for a ceremonial ground-breaking of the Meijer expansion, which includes a 105,000-square-foot dairy facility and a 68,000-square-foot refrigerated warehouse space. The expansion will generate 103 jobs and is expected to be complete by the end of 2015, company officials said.

The dairy and refrigerated warehouse will be built adjacent to the existing 1.7 million-square-foot Meijer Distribution Center at 4200 S. County Road 25A that employs more than 800 people, company officials said.

The governor said it's another step towards good business and jobs in Ohio. The project is an example of what's working in the Miami Valley.

Meijer officials expect at least 100 jobs to be filled by the Summer of 2015 when the dairy facility will open in Tipp City.

The expansion is expected to help the company boost its deliveries to stores across Ohio and the Midwest.

Ferguson debuts Celina facility

Thursday, June 5, 2014

By Shelley Grieshop

CELINA - They came, they saw, they stayed.

That's how plumbing supply giant Ferguson Enterprises chose to invest more than $15 million in a distribution center east of Celina, according to Ohio Gov. John Kasich.

"The community sold itself and here they (Ferguson) are," he told The Daily Standard following an official ribbon cutting ceremony Wednesday afternoon at the new 350,000-square-foot facility.

The governor credited local residents and community leaders for luring the business that, to date, has hired 65 people - the majority from the Grand Lake area.
